The Honorable Brian Kemp
Governor of Georgia
206 Washington Street
Suite 203, State Capitol
Atlanta, GA 30334

Dear Governor Kemp,

I write to you on behalf of the exemplary work of U.S Representative Doug Collins. During my time as Chairman of the American Conservative Union I have had the distinct honor of getting to know Congressman Collins and working with him on a number of issues where our interests aligned on shared conservative values. I believe he would be a strong choice for appointment to the United States Senate seat in Georgia being vacated at the end of the year by Senator Johnny Isakson.

Congressman Collins has lived a life dedicated to serving his country. Prior to his twelve years of public service, he valiantly served as a chaplain in the United States Navy and as a chaplain in the United States Air Force Reserve Command, where he is currently still serving. Stepping into public service in 2012, Congressman Collins served the people of Georgia's 27th district for three terms before transitioning to the U.S House of Representatives where he continues to prove his dedication to the constituents of Georgia's 9th congressional district, and the nation.

Throughout his career, Congressman Collins has been a strong advocate for those who are in need of a voice fighting for them in the halls of power. He has also been a strong advocate for making sure that the people of Georgia are better served by having a voice in Congress who has stood up to the partisan and phony attacks leveled at a duly elected President. Having that voice in the Senate would be yet another show of unified efforts against phony impeachment inquiries and made-up controversies being used by the President's detractors in order to overturn the results of an election.

At a time when our country needs strong leadership from conservative voices willing to stand with the President against relentless attacks from his opponents in order to get things done, I can think of no better person to send into the Senate than Congressman Doug Collins.

Sincerely,

Matt Schlapp
Chairman
